About Smart Mouse Travel

I am an enthusiastic travel planning mom who is always looking for our next adventure. I have always loved travel and I have instilled this wanderlust in my daughter. I hope to inspire people to plan trips big (and small) by providing useful information to increase traveling success.

What Makes Smart Mouse Travel Unique?

- I travel with my daughter, but the rest of my group varies. This variety allows me to bring a unique perspective to those planning trips as single parents, traditional families, or multi-generational families.
- My daughter suffers from a food allergy which provides value to a niche market of travel readers.
- We travel almost monthly despite working around our public school schedule.
